Copyright: Fair Dealing

“Did you know that you can make copies of extracts from library books and journals using a mobile phone camera as well as a photocopier or scanner?”

“How much material by other people are you allowed to copy?”

“As much as you need (but no more), up to about 5-10%.”

“This is known as ‘Fair Dealing’, and is intended to strike a balance between your needs as a scholar and the creator’s livelihood.”

“For more information please see City’s Copyright Guide: https://www.city.ac.uk/library/support/copyright.”

“Credits

‘Scales’ by Mauro Cateb (CC BY 2.0). Accessed from Flickr 17/08/2017.”